

A surreal landscape where the ground is covered in a vast sea of cardboard boxes. In the center, a man in a dark jacket stands on the edge of a large, open cardboard box. The box is overflowing with more boxes, which are flying out into the air. The sky is filled with numerous brown butterflies, and the sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow. The overall scene suggests a transition from a cluttered, confined space to a more open and liberating one.

A conceptual illustration of a human head in profile, facing left. The head is partially obscured by a brown cardboard box that serves as a brain. From the top of the box, a large, billowing, golden-yellow cloud of thought or ideas rises into a light blue sky. The cloud is reflected in a dark, rippling surface below it. The overall scene is set against a background of soft, hazy clouds.
